MEN ARE POWERLESS

To Fight Against Disease Unless They Strike at the Underlying Cause.

To treat Dandruff and Falling Hair, with irritants or oils on which a parasitic germ will prosper, is like scooping water from the ocean to prevent the tide from rising.

You cannot accomplish a satisfactory cure without having a right understanding of the fundamental causes of the trouble.

You must kill the Dandruff Germ.

Newbro's Herpicide does this because it is specially made to do that very thing.

When the germ is removed, the hair has no choice but to resume healthy growth and beauty.

"Destroy the cause, you remove the effect."

Invents a Printing Wireless Telegraph.

Elmer A. Burlingame, a young electrician and inventor, of Laporte, Ind., says he has perfected an apparatus that will revolutionize present methods of telegraph communication and news dissemination.

The invention is a printing wireless telegraph. The operator who sends messages writes or prints them on an ordinary typewriter. This prints in the usual way, but, in addition, flashes a message through space to a receiving station, where the copy is reprinted on a similar machine, exactly like the first.

The receiving station must be attuned to the incoming Hartzean waves, this giving secrecy and making it possible to have several sets of instruments working at once without interference. This non-interference is said to be so complete that all sending instruments may be connected to the same sending wire and all receiving instruments to another wire.

Inventor Burlingame says messages may be sent by his printing system about five times as fast as with the Morse code, and the necessity of waiting for an idle line is done away with. It is said that by connecting linotype in offices within a radius of 500 miles it will be possible to operate them simultaneously from one sending station. The cost of equipping the receiving station will be about $1,000, while the cost of the sending station will be about $2,000. Laporte capitalists, it is declared, are preparing to build a factory to manufacture the apparatus.

A Legislative Record.

Among the bills offered in the legislature that which most particularly affects the members themselves is a measure prepared by Senator Machen, of Alexandria, providing for the daily publication of an official periodical to be known as "The Legislative Record."

This periodical, as proposed by Mr. Machen, will contain a copy of every bill introduced in either branch of the General Assembly unless otherwise ordered by the branch into which the same is introduced; all bills which have become law; such parts of the journals of the Senate and House of Delegates, and such other documents as may be ordered to be printed therein by resolution of either branch of either assembly. One copy of the periodical will be furnished daily to every member of the General Assembly, the governor, lieutenant-governor, attorney-general, auditor of public accounts, members of the Supreme Court of Appeals, and to such other officers and public institutions as either branch of the General Assembly may by resolution direct, and will be mailed free of charge to the editor of any newspaper published in this State, who shall apply therefor in writing, and to such other persons as shall have paid in advance to the Superintendent of Public Printing the subscription price of $2 for each regular session and $1 for each special session.

The Pure Food Bill.

After 15 years of more or less serious consideration of the subject, the Senate yesterday passed a pure food bill by the decisive vote of 63 to 4. The vote was taken after a day devoted almost exclusively to debate of a desultory character on the measure. Several efforts were made to amend the bill and the committee accepted a number of suggestions, but only those thus accepted were incorporated in the bill as passed.

The bill makes it a misdemeanor to manufacture or sell adulterated or misbranded foods, drugs, medicines or liquors in the District of Columbia, the territories and the insular possessions of the United States and prohibits the shipment of such goods from one State to another or to a foreign country. It also prohibits the receipt of such goods. Punishment by fine of $500, or by imprisonment for one year, or both, is prescribed. In the case of corporations, officials in charge are made responsible.

Pope Displeased.

Leading members of the Vatican committee on public worship stated yesterday that the Pope is displeased at the report from the United States that Archbishop John J. Kean, of Dubuque, Iowa, has represented the Pope as favoring the continuation of women choirs in Catholic Churches. The pontiff, according to this authority, while not opposed to female congregational singing, absolutely declines to sanction their forming a body apart for liturgical services. Choral singing by women is tolerated provisionally in smaller churches only with the distinct understanding that measures will be taken by the local diocesan as rapidly as possible.

Sure cure for all Stomach, Liver and Kidney Complaints, Blood diseases, Headache, Dizziness and Weakness or bodily decline. Price 50c. Guaranteed by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons' drug store.

The Southern Education Board.

University of Virginia, February 22.—Doctor Alderman has recently returned from a trip to New York where he attended the annual meeting of the Southern Education Board. This Board is composed of southern and northern men of prominence, who are co-operating with southern educational officials in carrying on a campaign for public schools. From New York, Doctor Alderman went to Chicago to make an address at the annual banquet of the Commercial Club of that city. He also attended a breakfast to which were invited to meet him ten presidents of Western Universities.

This year there has been a revival of the former University custom of having inaugural addresses from the new professors. The first address of this session was delivered by Doctor Albert Lefevre, Professor of Logic and Psychology, on the subject, "Philosophy and Life." After describing the causes of the mistaken impression that philosophy bears no relation whatsoever to life, the speaker maintained that philosophy arises directly out of the practical needs of selfconscious beings. Philosophy was treated, first, as the pre-supposition, and secondly, as the culmination of all human thinking and action. Its problems are the common heritage of all men. In practical effect, Dr. Lefevre stated that philosophy is seen to be a persistent struggle against one sidedness and fanaticism. Viewed as an object of intellectual interest, the history of thought justly claims a high place in education. It is at least as important as the history of events. Moreover, the student, in learning the thoughts of others, learns how to think for himself and how to develop his own self-conscious personality.

Dr. Herbert L. Willet, of the University of Chicago, has lately spent ten days at the University of Virginia, conducting Sunday services in the chapel, giving lectures almost every night in Madison Hall and holding afternoon conferences with students on religious subjects. The students were very much interested in Dr. Willett's discussions and received considerable benefit therefrom.

Alexandria Gazette
SIC SEMPER TYRANNIS
AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER

THURSDAY EVENING. FEB. 22, 1906.

FINE weather always favors Alexandria on the occasion of a Twenty-second of February parade.

AS HAD been anticipated, the celebration of Washington's birthday in Alexandria this year was successful in every particular and it has given general satisfaction to those who had for weeks been planning the various features, as well as to the participants, spectators and visitors to the city. The weather has been all that could have been desired—clear and cool—and the city, in holiday garb, has presented an animation which has been enjoyed by all. A large percentage of the buildings in the city had been decorated, and the people have vied in making the celebration fitting and enjoyable.

GEORGE WASHINGTON was born, according to accepted chronology, 174 years ago, and the celebration in this city today was in commemoration of that event. Alexandria has ever regarded the 22nd of February as one of its most interesting holidays, as Washington was more closely identified with it than with any other place save Mount Vernon. In fact the latter was his rural home while Alexandria was his city. Born with a great destiny, the spirit of liberty slumbered in his breast in Colonial days as he walked our streets and passed to and from Mount Vernon. In the fulness of time, when a conflict with the mother country became inevitable, Washington and his cotemporaries conceived in Alexandria another English-speaking nation. While bringing it to the birth, amid all the hardships of seven long years, the father of his country never [illegible] interest in Alexandria, and ever and anon appeared in our midst, on [illegible] occasions he was [illegible] of all others the most welcome. While the United States [illegible] thes the great Christian [illegible] nature, and in no place [illegible] union was his death more sincerely lamented than in Alexandria. The city realized that it had lost a friend indeed. It is meet that we should celebrate his birthday, and this has been done today in a fitting manner. May interest in the day never wane.

CAREFULLY study of the decision made by the U. S. Supreme Court Monday, declaring that railroads may not discriminate in favor of themselves as dealers in coal and other commodities which they transport, has convinced members of Congress and the administration that an inevitable result will be absolute prohibition of dealings such as the railroads are now engaged in. It is also obvious that, whatever the immediate effect of the decision on the railroads now acting both as shippers and carriers, the supreme Court has clearly indicated that legislation to prevent the roads from dealing in and transportating commodities would be upheld by the court, and could be effectively enforced. This is a feature of the decision that is of great interest to Congress, inasmuch as it has opened the way for such legislation immediately after the full evils of the present system have been revealed bp the proposed investigation of the coal-carrying roads. It is now almost certain that the next legislative step toward the restriction of the railroads will be the introduction of measures to prevent them from dealing in the commodities along their lines or commingling the functions of shipper and carrier under one management. Immediate effect of the decision upon the railroads and especially the coal-carrying roads, it is believed, will be to force them out of the selling business. While the decision may not undo all of the evil that has been accomplished it will prevent further encroachments by the roads upon the province of the coal operators and will liberate the latter from domination of the railroads. Where the railroads own and operate mines, as in Pennsylvania and West Virginia, legislation may be necessary to effect the results the Supreme Court holds are necessary to the proper enforcement of the interstate commerce law.

THE defeat for renomination of Congressman Grosvenor by the republican convention held in Lancaster, Ohio, announcement of which was made yesterday, will be pleasant news to all democrats, especially those in the South. He is a blatant partizan republican, and one of the bitterest enemies of the South in Congress and seldom lets pass an opportunity to wave the bloody shirt. He has been in Congress for twenty years—a champion of protection, an advocate of ship subsidies and a stalwart of the uncompromising republican type. And now his days of active statesmanship are numbered. His constituents are tired of him and yesterday nominated Albert Douglass in his stead by the overwhelming majority of 78 to 20. Mr. Grosvenor attributes his defeat to "bossism and graft," but until he saw that his overthrow was certain he only applied such terms to democrats.

GOVERNOR SWANSON has signed the bill continuing the office of Secretary of Military Records and issued a commission to Major Robert W. Hunter, who had the endorsement of the Confederate Veterans of Virginia. Maj. Hunter has had charge of this work for the past two years and has most faithfully and efficiently performed the duties of his office to the entire satisfaction not only of the Confederate Veterans, but to the people of the State at large.

IT WAS stated in the Gazette last week that since many thousand bogus names had been stricken from the registration list in Philadelphia, the democrats would have a chance of carrying that city. On Tuesday an election was held in Philadelphia for two police magistrates and the republicans were defeated by over ten thousand majority.

From Washington.

Washington, Feb. 22.

Washington's birthday was generally observed in the Government Departments and places of business today with the exception of Congress which met as usual. Senator McCreary of Kentucky read President Washington's farewell address in the Senate. Thousands of citizens displayed the national colors from their residences and all the school houses and public buildings were decorated with flags. All the patriotic organizations held exercises or gave exhibition in honor of the day and George Washington University midwinter convocation occurredat the Belasco Theatre during the forenoon. The White House was closed to social and business callers. President Roosevelt paid a short visit to his office and spent about an hour in dictating letters to Secretary Loeb. He was away for a horseback ride in the suburbs with Senator Lodge and Secretary Root before eleven o'clock and it is likely will make another excursion horseback or a foot after lunch. A large number of people went from here to Alexandria to see the parade in that city.

When the men at the congress on uniform divorce laws get in a tight hole and need a few votes to sanction some restriction on divorce they invariably make a speech appealing to the chivalry of their fellow men sent here by the various governors of the states and territories to draft a model code of divorce laws. Yet every woman who has addressed the congress has demanded the greatest freedom in getting divorces. "We are here to protect woman," the men will say. "Each man of us is the son of a mother, many of us the husband of a wife and some the father of a daughter. It is for their protection we are working." To this the women replied: "What we need is no more restrictions by which the woman will find it harder to free herself from bonds unbearable, but stricter marriage and license laws." The feeling that the Pennsylvania delegation is trying to run the congress with the machinery of the president, secretary and chairman of the resolutions committee has been repeatedly referred to on the floor. The State of Pennsylvania is furnishing the money for the congress and by virtue of footing the bill, the Pennsylvania thinks they ought to get what they want in the way of resolutions. Off the floor the Pennsylvanians are referred to as "the Philadelphia lawyers." The New Yorkers and delegates from North Dakota are most offensive to the Dutchmen, who have not stopped in accusing the former as unfair. It is believed that that stage where disruption of the congress was feared has passed.

At the session today a resolution was adopted recommending all the states to enact laws forbidding the remarriage of either party until a year after the hearin or trial. Judge S. C. Stimson, of Indiana, chairman of the committee on marriages and licenses, brought in a report calling for the enactment of laws to impress the sacredness and permanteory of marriage upon the contracting parties. He would require an application for a license and its publication in a newspaper, at least two weeks before the issuance of the license. In all cases he would require a license be granted only to parties domiciled in the jurisdiction granting the license.

Since the Spanish-American war, according to a statement of Mr. Theophile Benard, of the firm of Benard & Co., of Madrid, and published in the Consular Reports, Spain has experienced a period of prosperity almost unprecedented in that nation. The gold premium on treasury bonds has fallen from 115 per cent. in 1898 to 23 per cent., with a tendency toward par value. The 4 per cent. national debt bonds were purchased at about 93 per cent. on foreign markets, whereas they stood at 29 per cent. during the American war. "A new spirit of commerce has arisen all over the country," says Mr. Benard, "this being reflected in agriculture and industry, and the approaching marriage of the King with a Protestant princess, niece of the King of England, is a distinct departure from the old exclusiveness." He points out that investment in Spanish railroads is particularly promising,

A remnant of fifty veterans of the vast army that served in the Mexican war met here in annual convention as the Mexican Veterans' Association today. They come to demand of Congress increased pensions footing up to $5,000,000 the first year. They estimate that during the next year 25 per cent of the veterans will die, and within five or ten years every one will have passed away. After a rally at the National Hotel and a speech by F. J. Garrett, the veterans took lunch at the Soldiers' Home. The Minutemen will entertain them tonight, and tomorrow evening the Dames of '46 will tender their old heroes a reception. Congress and President Roosevelt will be visited by the veterans while in Washington.

The diamond ring taken by the burglar from the home of Dr. Phillip Brooks at 318 3rd st. s. w., was mysteriously returned last night by a negro boy, whose idenity is not known.

President Roosevelt has caused it to be known that he will veto railroad rate bill if a bill is reported by the Senate committee which does not meet his approval. He is satisfied with the Hepburn which passed the House.

Collector of Customs Colton cables the War Department from Santo Domingo that as a result of pressure brought to bear by the leaders of all political parties in that republic, Caceres, formerly vice-president, has announced that he will serve the unexpired portion of the presidental term vacated by the flight of President Morales.

The body of a well-dressed man, apparently about forty-five years of age, was found yesterday in the gutter at the corner of Twenty-first street and Calumet avenue, in the heart of one of the fashionable residence districts on the the south side of Chicago. The first organization of the Virginia Alumni of Johns Hopkins University will take place in Richmond Saturday night. A well-dressed man apparently fifty-five or sixty years of age, was found dead yesterday afternoon in a room in the Colorado Hotel, St Louis. There was a bullet wound in his head and the revolver with which he had shot himself was clapsed in his right hand. He had apparently been dead for some hours. From papers found in his trunk, the man is believed to be Charles W. Beers, 5236 Addison street, Philadelphia. He seemed to have been in good circumstances, well dressed, and had a bond issued by the Hamilton Trust Company, of Philadelphia.

One of the most remarkable dinners given in New York of gastronomic freaks was that last night in the Hotel Astor, given by Prof. Thomas A. Stillman, director of the chemical laboratory of the Stevens Institute of Technology. It was designated as a chemical dinner. Excepting the meats and the cigars, everything was prepared on the spot by Professor Stillman from chemicals. Professor Stillman's object was to demonstrate how substitute food products which are absolutely spurious may be put on the market to be sold as genuine foods, and which will furnish sustenance.

Alfred M. Bard, nephew of the millionaire ex-Senator Bard, of California, was murdered in Brussels, according to Detective Fogarty, of the New York police force. Fogarty has been working on the case in Brussels for some time. The detective was reluctant to discuss the case, as the Brussels police have not yet succeeded in arresting the murderer, but he admitted that a beautiful French girl, with whom Bard became acquainted at the "pension," in Brussels, where he was staying, is supposed to have killed the young man in a fit of jealously when she found he was about to leave her and return to this country.

The mangled remains of three men were found yesterday morning beneath a high trestle of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, leading to the bridge across the Tennessee river. Several hours later they were identified by Dr. C. B. Jones, of Scarboro, Tenn., as three young men who lived in his vicinity, William Dunnaway, William Turpin, and James Gamble. Dunnaway and Turpin were thirty years of age, and Gamble only sixteen. They were green countrymen, and the theory advanced is that they stepped from the train immediately after the station name had been called, while the train was standing on the trestle, which is fully eighty feet high.

He went to Baltimore in 1857, and for several years worked on a lumber boat plying between that city and Wilmington, N. C. In 1867 he accepted a position as assistant cashier in the countingrooms of Armstrong, Cator & Co. Being a man of great determinstion, energy and ability, he was soon placed in charge of the credit department of the firm, and much of its success is due to his sound judgment. At the death of Mr. Watters he became the senior member of the firm.

THE LEGISLATURE.

SENATE.

The Sale-Holt congressional re-apportionment bill, which Tuesday passed the House, was recommitted in the Senate after a hard fight by Senator Sale for immediate action. The motion by Senator Lassiter to recommit was adopted by a vote of 17 to 15.

The Senate spent a half hour in the morning in honoring the memory of its old and faithful librarian, William Wilson, who died Tuesday night. Senator Keezel offered resolutions and he and Senators Wickham, Echols and Chapman passed eulogies on the character and worth of the librarian. The resolution was passed by a rising vote. The House joint resolution to investigate the Corporation Commission was favorably reported from the Senate committee and adopted without a dissenting voice, as stated yesteday.

The several bills affecting the charge of charter in the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad, which were the special order at 12:30 o'clock, were, at the request of Senator Wickham, continued until today, to allow the members time to examine them. Senator Wickham requested that they be read very carefully. He called particular attention to an amendment drawn by the railroad officials to bill No. 260, one of the four bills reported at the same time.

The Patteson bill, relating to demurrer to evidence, was passed without objection.

Senator Maclen presented a bill designed to improve the efficiency of railroad employes, particularly those concerned in operating trains, with a view of affording better safeguards to the traveling public. The bill in effect prohibits the working of employes beyond reasonable hours and stipulates for definite periods of rest after labor.

A bill imposing a penalty on express companies for making overcharges for transportation of goods was presented in the Senate by Mr. Strode. The bill provides a penalty of not less than $25 not more than $100, to be recovered by the party injured by suit against the company that demands or receives more in charges than it is lawfully entitled. The bill also provides the same penalties for failure of the company to promptly deliver freight or packages received for transportrtion upon which the charges have been paid.

HOUSE.

A ripple of excitement swept the House when a rather indignant protest against admitting lobbyists to the floor was offered in the shape of a resolution by Mr. Moncure. The lobbyists were denounced as nuisances, and it was declared that they had grown more numerous daily until they interfered with the peace of members and the proceedings in the House. Objection was made to the words "persons known as lobbyists" in the resolution, thus leaving the measure with a direction to the sergeant-at-arms and doorkeepers to enforce the rules in excluding all except members from the floor of the House.

The general appropriation bill had plain sailing until it reached the University of Virginia. The appropriation called for $75,000, which is $25,000 more than heretofore allowed in the budget. Efforts were made by friends of the university to enlarge the amount reported, but all their appeals were in vain.

The following institutions received appropriations without opposition in the sums named: The Medical College of Virginia, $5,000; the State Female Normal, at Farmville, $40,000; the Virginia Military Institute, for support, $35,000; Virginia School for the Deaf and Blind at Staunton, $45,000 and $1,500 additional for the treatment of inmates by the Richmond Eye Infirmary; Virginia Polytechnic Institute, $61,750; Virginia Normal and Collegiate Institute, at Petersburg, for support, $15,000.

The bill was completed at the afternoon session, breaking the record for the passage of the annual budget.

The Old anti-paper-cigarette bill was returned to the House with the recommendations that "it do not pass."

The House committee on finance by a practically unanimous vote, reported Mr. Bland's firemen's relief bill, which appropriates $2,500 for the aid of disabled firemen.

A motion providing for dredging a fine of not less than $100 and not more than $250, and a term in jail of not less than thirty days and not more than six months, was adopted without opposition. For tongers, or those catching oysters with tongs, one-half the dredgers' penalty will be imposed. Owing to the fact that the Maryland delegation was obliged to leave at noon for Annapolis, the various motions were embodied in a resolution to be presented to the legislatures of both States. Bills will be framed in Maryland by Senator Linthicum recommending the adoption of the Virginia culling law, with increased penalties.

The Peyton bill for an appeal from the decision of the V. P. I. Board in regard to the dismissal of Cadets Eubank, Christian and Salley for hazing may be reached today. Interest in the case was reached yesterday when a pamphlet was placed on the desk of every member of the legislature. The pamphlet gives records and evidence to show that the cadets were not guilty of the offense charged. The pamphlet is accompanied by a letter from Judge George L. Christian, dealing with the methods of the Polytechnic Institute in these cases. There is also a quotation on the back from a letter of Senator John W. Daniel.

A bill designed to remove the objections to the railroad merger bills, suggested in the amendments proposed by Judge Tavenner, has been drawn by the officers of the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad and was laid on the desks of Senators yesterday. The bill purports to be a substitute to Senate bill No. 260, one of the four railroad bills reported by the finance committee. The objections raised by Judge Tavenner to the bills as presented were that they failed to definitely provide for the performance by the railroads under any new charter that may be acquired of the duties incurred or imposed upon them by their present charters.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY.

Gala Day in Alexandria—Large and Imposing Pageant—City Thronged with Visitors—Ideal Weather.

All anticipations of the celebration this year of the anniversary of George Washington's birthday have been realized, and it is generally admitted that the event of 1906 has been one of the most notable that has occurred in the history of Alexandria. The affair had been well-conceived and, as far as possible, the programme has been enacted even in the most minute details.

The 22d of February, almost from the time Washington was gathered to his fathers, has been peculiarly an Alexandria holiday. The reason for this is apparent—it was Washington's city, in whose welfare he was always interested and toward the enhancement of which he labored in many ways. This generation, inheriting the true instinct of patriotism, vie in perpetuating his memory, and year after year arouse a commendable spirit in the old city whose streets Washington trod and where he was so generally known by the progenitors of Alexandrians of the present day.

Some anxiety had been manifested yesterday as to the meteorological conditions of today. There were light rains at times, followed by heavy downpours early in the night. The wind, however, had in the meantime changed to the northwest—a clearing-up quarter—the temperature began to fall and there were indications that the forecast of the Weather Bureau—clearing and colder—would prevail on the morrow.

At daybreak this morning it was seen that the prognostication had materialized. The heavens were clear and a crisp northwest wind was rapidly drying the streets. These conditions sent thrills of delights throughout the entire community. The decorations on the various buildings were swaying, old Sol was shedding his beams upon the scene and nature was, as it were, smiling. That propitious weather would prevail throughout the day was assured, and the final preparations for the parade were entered into with a will.

Housekeepers were up and at work early preparing for expected guests, while little ones armed with wooden and paper hatchets and waving diminutive flags were as happy as on a Christmas morn.

As the day advanced visitors began to reach the city. The ferry steamer Woodbury brought large crowds from Washington while trains on the electric railway were running in sections. There were ample transportation accommodations. The Woodbury made hourly trips and the electric trains followed so closely in the wake of each other that no time was lost in passing between the two cities. The steam trains also brought many visitors to Alexandria from the surrounding country.

The various organizations from other places which had been invited to participate in the parade began to reach the city shortly before noon, and as soon as they landed were met by members of the reception committee.

It was about one o'clock in the after noon when the Norfolk steamer Washington arrived with the last detachment of the military from Washington. By this time the preparations for the formation of the parade had about been completed.

The crowds in the streets had been increasing in the meantime to a great extent. King street, which was profusely decorated, was thronged with people throughout its entire length, while numbers were being massed on Duke and Fairfax streets, the point where the procession formed.

The United States dispatch steamer Dolphin, which anchored off the city yesterday, was bedecked with flags from stern to stern and made a fine appearance, and many national and other emblems appeared on the river front and floated from buildings throughout the city. At 12 o'clock the Dolphin fired a salute of 21 guns.

About one o'clock the various organizations began assembling along the streets in the southeastern section of the city ready to take the places assigned them in the line.

Shortly before 2 o'clock everything was well in hand. Major W. M. Smith, chief marshal, and his staff of aides had anticipated everything in connection with the formation of the procession, and when the hour arrived for it to move the various organizations formed in line with alacrity and perfection. The pageant was soon moving, followed by thousands while equally as many more were viewing the procession from windows and doors with the greatest manifestations of delight.

The formation of the parade was as follows:

Platoon mounted police, commanded by Lieutenant James Smith.
Chief Marshal, Maj. W. M. Smith.
Chief of Staff, Marshall L. King.
Military Aide, Capt. T. B. Cochran; Civic Aide, Lieut. J. Y. Williams; Fire Department Aide, John H. Trimyer,
Secret Organization Aide,
William MacA. Green.

Distinguished guests in carriages and officers of the Washington Birthday Celebration Association.
City Council and other city officers in carriages.

Latham and staff; guests visiting department in carriages; five pieces of apparatus from Washington and sixty-eight men, commanded by Chief William Belt; local department, including the Friendship Veteran Fire Association, of which Washington was once president, the Reliance, Relief and Columbia companies 4th Division—Marshal Orlando H. Kirk and staff; industrial displays, one hundred wagons and floats, showing Alexandria enterprise.

The procession which formed on Fairfax street, right resting on Duke, moved over the following route:

Up Duke to Payne; thence to Prince; down Prince to Fairfax; thence to King; up King to Henry; thence to Cameron; down Cameron to Columbus; thence to Queen; down Queen to Washington; thence to Cameron; down Cameron to St. Asaph, the place of disbandment.

From the reviewing stand at the Peabody building State and city officials and officials of the District of Columbia and other distinguished guests viewed the parade.

Major W. C. Langfitt commanded the battalion of U. S. engineers.

The Thirteenth calvary from Fort Myer was commanded by Captains Phillips and Corcoran and Lieutenants Davidson, Deitrich, Bristoll and Merchant.

The Field Artillery was commanded by Lieutenants Spaulding and Kilbourne.

The marines were commanded by Maj. "Jack" Myers.

Maj. J. E. King, of this city, of the 70th Regiment, the ranking officer present was in command of the Virginia troops

The general committee headquarters was in the Friendship engine house. R. E. Lee Camp Hall, on Prince street, was used as the executive office and a reception was tendered the distinguished guests between 12 and 2 o'clock. The guests were received by the officers of the association and the reception committee, of which Mr. E. E. Downham is chairman. A buffet luncheon was served. The lunch was preparaed by the members of the Woman's Auxiliary to Lee Camp of Confederate veterans, who also acted as waitresses.

The headquarters of the press committee was in the Business Men's League rooms, and during the day a large number of visiting newspaper men were entertained there.

The visiting military and firemen were served with lunch at the Armory Hall on south Royal street.

Luncheon was served to the Washington High School Cadets at the office of Mr. A. D. Brockett, on Prince street, near the river front, shortly after they reached the city on the Norfolk and Washington steamer.

A large number of citizens kept open houset where they entertained their friends, among them Mr. W. B. Smoot, Dr. T. M. Jones, Judge J. K. M. Norton, Mr. A. D. Brockett, Judge Barley, C. C. Carlin and others.

Among the distinguished visitors present were Lieut. Gov. Ellyson, of Virginia; Commissioners Macfarland, West and Biddle, of the District of Columbia; Senators Martin and Daniel and Congressman Rixey, of Virginia.

Among those who rode in carriages were the officers and directors of the Norfolk and Washington Steamboat Company.

The decorations on many of the business houses are the most elaborate ever seen here. A cash prize has been offered for the most attractively decorated building, and competition is strong.

A notable and interesting feature of the parade was Osceola Tribe of Red Men. They were marshaled by Mr. A. D. Deeton. They made a fine appearance and brought to mind days of old when the revolution was brewing and American patrols were compelled to masquerade as Indians in order to escape the argus-eyed minions of George III.

The trades display was most creditable, a large number of Alexandria and Washington houses being represented.

The steam fire engines and the hook and ladder truck, always kept in good condition, had been burnished to perfection and formed dazzling features of the pageant as it moved from street to street. The horses were splendidly caparisoned and the men in line never appeared to better advantage.

The Friendship Veteran Fire Association had 45 men in line. They were attired in light overcoats and hats and black pantaloons James Phillips was marshal.

The Columbia had 36 members in the procession. They appeared in their new uniforms—drab coats, caps and pantaloons. J. Frank Pettey, was foreman.

The Reliance Company had between 20 and 25 men in line. They wore the regulation firemen's uniform. Dr. Gorman was marshal.

The Relief Hook and Ladder Company mustered 15 men. They were attired in regulation uniform, and were marshalled by Jos. DeSilva.

The Columbia, Reliance, Hook and Ladder and Friendship houses were decorated in a tasteful manner. Great care and labor had been bestowed on the steamers and the truck, while the old Friendship had been metamorphosed into usefulness as well as beauty. Special efforts had been made by the members of the Columbia to make their reel attractive, and it was observed by all and received deserved compliments.

A squad of several policemen, in charge of Lieutenant Smith, were in the line.

Captain George W. Petty was in command of the Alexandria Fire Department and was proud of the fine showing made by the department.

Today's Telegraphic News

The Longworths in Cuba.

Havana, Feb. 22.—Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth were given a cordial reception on their arrival here on their honeymoon. They seemed pleased with the welcome extended to them and the young couple set for a quarter of an hour in an automobile on the wharf, smilingly returning the inquisitive stares of hundreds of Cubans and American tourists who had gathered to get a glimpse of them. The consul-general, members of the legal staff, congressional committee, palace officers and president of the American Club boarded the Mascotte to welcome the visitors on their arrival. One of the Congressmen delivered a speech of welcome. Later Edwin V. Morgan, the American minister, and Mr. Longworth came ashore in one of President's Palma's aides. They awaited the remainder of the party and when all were ready, were whirled away to Mariano, the new home of Minister Morgan.

The Algeciras Conference.

Berlin, Feb. 22.—The opinion prevails here that only the mediation of Henry White, the ranking American representative at the Algeciras conference on Moroccan affairs, can bring about an agreement. There is a general feeling in favor of apealing to the United States to smooth over the dangerous rivalries which keep the European nations apart. One commentator designates America as the angel of peace and declares that an appeal to the Hague tribunal to straighten out the present tangle is superfluous since Roosevelt is the general arbitrator for the whole world.

Insurance Report.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 22.—The complete report of the Armstrong insurance investigating committee, was presented to the New York legislature today, and embodies drastic remedial legislation which will serve to correct the abuses in the conduct of life insurance companies.

The Oyster Committee.

The committee from the Maryland legislature which went to Richmond to secure concurrent oyster legislation with Virginia in reference to the Potomac river convened for final action yesterday morning with the Virginia legislative committee.

Senator Linthicum, of Maryland, presided, and in a brief speech recommended the closing of the river for two years, and that during that time oyster-dredging should not be tolerated. The motion was adopted.

The next suggestion from the chair was for a uniform law treating on fines and penalties to be imposed for illegal oyster-dredging.

Delegate Mason, of Virginia made a motion to adopt the Virginia law making dredging and "roughing" oysters a misdemeanor, and in order to meet the views of the Maryland delegation, recommended a greater penalty than that provided for in the present code. A motion providing for the culling of oysters less than two and a half inches in length was carried.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constant failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address:

Dear Sir: We saved $40 or $50 for Mr J J. Hall, Sheffield, Pa; and didn't know it, and he didn't know it, till afterward.

This is how. Five years ago, he bought lead-and-oil to make 40 gallons of paint, and painted it all on two houses, one coat.

Last summer he bought 40 gallons Devoe for the same, and had 10 gallons left.

Devoe is worth $4 or $5 a gallon, put-on.

The Clements-Lyon Suit.

As heretofore stated in the Gazette Mr. James E. Clements, of Alexandria county, former superintendent of schools of that county, has instituted suit for $30,000 damages against Frank Lyons, of that county. Mr. Clements says the case will be one of the most hotly contested "and much litigated" in the recent history of the State. It is understood that each side is confident that it will finally reach the Court of Appeals. The trouble between the two men originated more than a year ago. The damages are asked because of alleged injuries inceived by Mr. Clements at the hands of Mr. Lyon in a personal encounter in the office of the latter over a year ago. The bill alleges that the plaintiff was permanently injured by reason of blows about the head at the base of the brain. The bill alleges that the mind, memory and health of the plaintiff were seriously affected by the blows administered by the defendant.

Lyon and Clements have been political opponent for years. It seems that more than a year ago Mr. Lyon, in an article in his paper, used the expression "an inferior breed of dogs," applying it to certain people in Alexandria county. Mr. Clements criticised this expression quite freely. Some days afterwards, he says he was invited by Mr. Lyon to come into his office in the courthouse, and that when he did so was attacked.

Mr. Clements and Mr. Lyon engaged in a personal encounter, which lasted some time, in the course of which the former fired two or three shots, without injuring his antagonist. Mr. Clements says he does not habitually carry a weapon, but happened to have one in his pocket on this occasion, as he had had to cross the bridge from Washington the night previous with a considerable sum of money on his person.

A warrant for the arrest of Mr. Clements was issued soon after the encounter, and two policemen of Washington and the Commonwealth's attorney of Alexandria county remained before his office until a late hour at night waiting for him to come out to arrest him. The officers were finally taken away by order of the district attorney of Washington.

Mr. Clements had a preliminary hearing the following day, but was not held.

The case is attracting much attention in Alexandria county, and in this city, where both plaintiff and defendant are known. It will come up at the April term of the Circuit Court in Alexandria, Judge Nicol presiding. Judge J. K. M. Norton will represent the plaintiff, and other distinguished counsel will be associated with him.

Launching of the Jamestown.

The new steamer Jamestown, which is building at the Newport News shipyard for the Norfolk and Washington Steamboat Company will be launched with appropriate ceremonies Saturday, March 17, and not the 15th, as was first proposed. The launching will be witnessed by the officials of the Norfolk and Washington company and a large number of invited guests. As has been stated the young daughter of Mr. Clarence Norment will be sponsor for the new steamer. Mr. John Callahan, general manager of the Norfolk and Washington company, returned to Washington Tuesday from a visit to the shipyard where the steamer is building, and reports work well advanced on the boat. The Jamestown is being built for daylight service on the Potomac, and will run to Norfolk during the Jamestown Exposition next year. She is to be an absolutely fireproof boat, and no wood will be used in her construction.

Death of an Old Citizen.

Mr. Joseph W. Wells, an old and well-known citizen, died at the Alexandria Hospital yesterday afternoon. The deceased became seriously ill several weeks ago and was placed in the hospital for treatment. His condition later became critical, and it was seen that his death was but a matter of a short time. Mr. Wells was a son of the late William and Elizabeth Wells. He was born at Fairfax Courthouse, but had lived in Alexandria since his boyhood. Over half a century ago he was an apprentice to the late S. N. Aubince, who for many years conducted the shoe business in Alexandria. Upon reaching manhood he followed that occupation and continued in it up to the time of his last illness. The deceased leaves a widow and three children—Messrs. Frank and George Wells and Mrs. Charles A. Haynes.

The religious services were conducted by Rev. W. J. Morton and Rev. W. A. Brown.

The following cases were disposed of this morning:

J. Thomas, colored, arrested by Officer Bell for drunken and disorderly conduct, forfeited his collateral by failure to appear.

The postoffice is keeping holiday hours, and all banks and financial institutions are closed. The schools were given holiday and after the morning hours many of the business houses were closed.

The marriage of Miss Hallie Ramsay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs George William Ramsay, to Dr. Clement Ellis Conger, of Harrisonburg, took place last night at historic old Christ Church, the ceremony being performed by Rev. William Ambrose Brown, brother-in-law of the bride, who was assisted by the rector, Rev. William J. Morton. The church was beautifully and artistically decorated by Loose The bride wore a gown of embroidered silk gauze over silk and mousseline de soie and carried a bouquet of Bride's roses. Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Edith Ramsay, who wore a gown of white lace over silk and mousseline de soie and carried American Beauty roses. The groom's best man was Dr. Thomas Clinton Firebaugh, of Harrisonburg. The ushers were Messrs. Edward Stabler Leadbeater, Edward Stabler Fawcett, William Gregory Leadbeater and Edward Henderson Carter. Mr. and Mrs. Conger left for a two weeks' trip going north. They will live near Harrisonburg at Pleasant Valley, Rockingham county. Among those from out of town who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reese, of Washington; Mr. and Mrs. Tarlton Stabler, of Sandy Spring; Mr. Henry Miller, of Sandy Spring; Miss Hallie Huck, of Winchester; Miss Eugenia Fawcett, of Sandy Spring, and Miss Pauline Barry, of Baltimore.

Ambach, which took place at 6 o'clock at the residence of the bride's parents, 1789 Eutaw Place, Baltimore. The artistic interior of the home, which is one of the handsomest in that section, was lavishly decorated throughout. The approach of the bride was heralded by the singing of the wedding chorus from "Lohengrin" by Dr. B. Merrill Hopkinson and a double quartette from the Madison Avenue Temple, accompanied by Mr. Miles Farrow upon the organ, the same choir having rendered the hymn "O, Perfect Love," during the seating of the guests. The bride entered upon the arm of the groom, preceded only by the immediate members of the two families, having no attendants. She wore an exquisite robe of duchess lace over white satin and chiffon, with a tulle veil caught with orange blossoms, and carried only a small spray of lilies-of-the-valley. Rev. Dr. Adolph Gutmacher, of Madison Avenue Temple, performed the ceremony. At the conclusion a handsome dinner was served. Mrs. Brager wore black Brussels lace over black satin and chiffon, with diamond ornaments. During the latter evening Mr. and Mrs. Ambach left on an extensive wedding trip North On their return they will spend the remainder of the season with Mr. and Mrs. Brager at 1789 Eutaw Place. A large number of very elegant presents were received, including silver of every description, cut glass, jewels handsome furniture, bric-a-brac and other valuable and costly articles. The father of the bride is an Alexandrian by birth.

A Southern Reminiscence.

In "A Southern Girl in '61" Mrs. D. Giraud Wright describes the burial of the young hero, Latane, one of the most dramatic and touching incidents in the story of the Confederacy. He died leading a gallant charge.

"John Latane, a lieutenant in his brother's company, took charge of the body and, with a cart and driver, tried to return to Richmond. Finding this impossible, as the enemy were in possession of the country all around, he went to Westwood, the home of Dr. Brokenbrough, who was then a surgeon in the army. The enemy approached, and he, to avoid capture, was obliged to leave his brother's remains and escape on foot. Mrs. Brokenbrough sent for an Episcopal clergyman to perform the funeral ceremonies, but the enemy would not permit him to pass. Then, with a few other ladies, a fair haired little girl, her apron filled with white flowers, and a few faithful slaves who stood reverently near, a pious Virginia matron read the solemn and beautiful burial service over the cold, still form of one of the noblest gentlemen and most intrepid officers in the Confederate army. She watched the clods heaped upon the coffin lid, then sinking on her knees, in sight and hearing of the foe, she committed his soul's welfare and the stricken hearts he had left behind him to the mercy of the All Father."

Meaning of Surnames.

Nearly all surnames originally had a meaning. They were descriptive of their owners. In a word, they were nicknames, like "Skinny" or "Shorty" or "Pud."

Peel is a surname that shows the original Peel to have been bald. Grace means fat, from the French "gras." Grant, from "grand," means big.

An Oliphant should be a clumsy and unwieldly person. This surname was "elephant" originally.

The Parkers were keepers of noblemen's parks. The Warners were warreners, or rabbit tenders. The Barkers prepared bark for tanning. The Laboucheres were butchers.

Bell meant handsome. Cameron meant crook nosed. Curtis meant polite. And Forster meant a forester, Napier a servant in charge of the table linen, Palmer a pilgrim, Wainwright a wagon builder, Walter a wall builder, Webster a weaver, Wright a carpenter. —Philadelphia Bulletin.

Substitutes For Tobacco.

Sailors on long cruises sometimes exhaust their tobacco. Thence untold misery and many ingenious efforts to create a tobacco substitute. Tea and coffee make the best tobacco substitutes. They smoke freely in pipe or cigarettes, and their taste and aroma are not unpleasant. But they burn the mouth and rack the nerves. Rope yarn —the untwisted parts of rope and oakum—is smoked by sailors as a last resort. Bark, peeled from the hoops of salt beef and pork barrels, is also smoked when the limit is reached. These things smoke abominably, and the black fumes that they give forth from the sailors' mouths are always accompanied by oaths and imprecations. Yet many a desperate sailor has smoked them in the hope of appeasing his tobacco hunger.

The New Cough Syrup—the one that acts as a mild cathartic on the bowels—is Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar. It expels all cold from the system, cuts the phlegm out of the throat, strengthens the mucous membranes of the bronchial tubes, and relieves croup, whooping cough, etc. Children love it. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co., 401 King street.

Startling But True.

People the world over were horrified on learning of the burning of a Chicago theater in which nearly six hundred people lost their lives, yet more than five times this number or over 3,000 people died from pneumonia in Chicago during the same year, with scarcely a passing notice. Every one of these cases of pneumonia resulted from a cold and could have been prevented by the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. A great many who had every reason to fear pneumonia have warded it off by the prompt use of this remedy. The following is an instance of this sort: "Too much cannot be said in favor of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and especially for colds and influenza. I know that it cured my daughter, Laura, of a severe cold, and I believe saved her life when she was threatened with pneumonia," W. D. WILCOX, Logan, New York. Sold by Gibson & Timberman and W. F. Creighton & Co.

A Mystery Solved.

"How to keep off periodic attacks of biliousness and habitual constipation was a mystery that Dr. King's New Life Pills solved for me," writes John N. Pleasant, of Magnolia, Ind. The only pills that are guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction to everybody or money refunded. Only 25c at E. S. Leadbeater & Sons' drug store.

The soothing spray of Ely's Liquid Cream Balm, used in an automizer, is an unspeakable relief to sufferers from Catarrh. Some of them describe it as a Godsend, and no wonder. The thick, foul discharge is dislodged and the patient breathes freely, perhaps for the first time in weeks. Liquid Cream Balm contains all the healing, purifying elements of the solid form, and it never fails to cure. Sold by all druggists for 75c, including spraying tube, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren street, New York.

FOR OVER SIXTY YEARS

AN OLD AND WELL-TRIED REMEDY.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over sixty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething with perfect success.
